Islam. Gentrification. AIDS. Multiculturalism. Where do we face these realities? A few years ago, it was in the city. But today, many city dwellers are moving to the suburbs, either by choice or because of circumstances beyond their control. And this shift is changing both the urban and suburban landscape. With this shift in mind, editors John Fuder and Noel Castellanos have gathered together a team of experts to help you minister effectively in both the urban and suburban context. Divided into four sections (Critical Issues, Church-Planting Models, Ministering to Suburban Needs, and Para-Church Ministries), A Heart for the Community is a rich resource designed to help you do ministry today.

My Personal Review:
Dr. John Fuder is an expert in the field of Urban Ministry. He is a professor of Urban Studies at Moody Bible Institute Graduate School in Chicago Illinois; where he pours his heart into each student. The book is composed of twenty-nine chapters written by different authors who are running successful urban ministries in the Chicago land area. Each author has years of practical experience in their ministry. If you have a heart for the city and want practical urban ministry advice from those who have lived it, than I highly recommend this book. This book will challenge you to roll up your sleeves and become a part of what God is doing in the city of Chicago and around the world!

I highly recommend Doc Fuder's first book, Heart for the City
Jeremiah 29:7—'Seek the welfare of the city where I have sent you into exile, and pray to the Lord on its behalf; for in its welfare you will have welfare.'
