The authors third-grade class wrote her these homilies of lasting love while she was away on her honeymoon. Here, along with the children's crayon drawings, are dozens of serious and not-too-serious suggestions: Mostly say yes, When your husband's grumpy, give him some coffee, and the memorable Try to have triplets. One child is too few.

My Personal Review:
I agree with those who have cited this little gem as an excellent wedding gift, especially if you are giving money or gift cards as this provides a little something to wrap. Most of the advice and drawings are either funny and/or poignant. I always picture the bride and groom sitting down to read it together after all the uproar of the wedding and the honeymoon -- and I'm confident if read, it will touch their hearts.

For More 5 Star Customer Reviews and Lowest Price:
Advice for a Happy Marriage: From Miss Dietz's Third-Grade Class by Debi Dietz Crawford and Friends - 5 Star Customer Reviews and Lowest Price!