Here are the time-honored fables of Aesop as never seen before. Santore's animals leap off the page in explosions of color, giving messages to ponder and physical beauty to savor. School Library Journal called this interpretation of the classic morality tales a delight to the eye and ear.

My Personal Review:
This is a favorite book for both my boys 7 and 9. The art work is very boy appealing and beautiful for mom too. There is a triple page pull out for The Hare and the Tortoise featuring all the animals in the book and the Tortoise crossing the finish line. My oldest son loves the art work for the Bear and the Bees. While my younger son enjoys the art from The Grasshopper and the Ants. We all love the wonderful life like water color paintings which almost seem to leap off the page. The range of colors, details, use of light, emotions and animals make this book a visual delight for young and old. Each Fable is just right length for beginning narrators. There are 24 fables in this book. The book is over size which helps to make the art even more appealing and the lettering just right for a beginning reader. This book would be a great addition to any home library but especially so for a home schooling family.
