Angelina at the Palace (Angelina Ballerina)

Angelina has been invited by her teacher Miss Lilly to dance at the Royal Palace in Mouseland! Anxious to impress the King and Queen and their three perfect princesses, poor Angelina tries very hard to please everyone and put on the perfect show. But things don't seem to be going her way... until the dancing begins. Angelina proves to be the perfect teacher for the princesses, and together they perform a magical fairy ballet for a cheering crowd.

With Helen Craig's charming full-color illustrations, Angelina—along with her cousin Henry and Miss Lilly—will have young dancers twirling with delight.

My Personal Review:
My preschooler adores the Angelina Ballerina series of books and "Angelina at the Palace" is one of her favorites. In this installment, Angelina and cousin Henry accompany Ms Lilly, her ballet instructor to the palace where they are to oversee a dance recital for the King and Queen of Mouseland. Angelina is so nervous that she commits a faux pas at the dinner table, and is resolved to return home out of fear of embarassing Ms Lilly. When Ms Lilly falls ill, it is left to Angelina to overcome her lack of confidence, muster her courage and take charge of the recital, training the three young princesses for their roles together with the aid of young cousin Henry.

Part of the charm of this series is the endearing character of Angelina as a young mouse with lofty ambitions of being a prima ballerina. The other mouse characters are also charming such as precocious young cousin...
Henry, Angelina's best friend Alice etc. The illustrations are beautiful, vibrant and possess an old-world charm that keeps the stories fresh and fun for young readers. I'd highly recommend this series to young readers, preschoolers and up.
