NYPSD Lieutenant Eve Dallas keeps the streets of a near-future New York City safe in this extraordinary series. But even she makes mistakes, and is haunted by those she couldn't save—and the killers she couldn't capture. When the body of a young brunette is found in East River Park, artfully positioned and marked by signs of prolonged and painful torture, Eve is catapulted back to a case nine years earlier. The city was on edge from a killing spree that took the lives of four women in fifteen days, courtesy of a man the media tagged The Groom—because he put silver rings on the fingers of his victims. When it turns out that the young brunette was employed by Eves billionaire husband, Roarke, she brings him in on the case—a move that proves fitting when it becomes chillingly clear that the killer has made his attack personal. The victim was washed in products from a store Roarke owns, and laid out on a sheet his company manufactures. With the Grooms monstrous return, Eve is determined to finish him once and for all. Familiar with his methods, Eve knows that he has already grabbed his next victim. Time is running out on another womans life. And chances are hes working up to the biggest challenge of his illustrious career-abducting a woman who will test his skills and who promises to give him days and days of pleasure before she dies: Eve.

Personal Review: Creation in Death by J.D. Robb
I am new J.D. Robb fan so I had to play 'catchup'. I wanted to purchase all of the older novels that I was unable to locate locally. I've had great success with Amazon.com in the past so I decided to try my luck again. Amazon.com didn't let me down, and now I have most of the older J.D. Robb books to add to my collection at fantastic prices. It can't get any better than that. If you're looking for anything for great prices and products in great condition, I highly recommend Amazon.com.

Thank You, Fayet37
