No one ever said it was easy being a monster. Take Frankenstein, for instance: He just wants to marry his undead bride in peace, but his best man, Dracula, is freaking out about the garlic bread. Then there’s the Headless Horseman, who wishes everyone would stop drooling over his delicious pumpkin head. And can someone please tell Edgar Allan Poe to get the door already before the raven completely loses it? Sheesh.

In a wickedly funny follow-up to the bestselling Frankenstein Makes a Sandwich, Adam Rex once again proves that monsters are just like you and me. (Well, sort of.) (20081001)

My Personal Review:
My kids, ages 9 & 11, love this book (as well as the previous Frankenstein Makes a Sandwich). And, well, so do I. In fact, with that first book, we laughed so hard we started coughing and had to put the book aside for few minutes to catch our breath. This newest book didn’t incite quite the same reaction but it is still worth the price for the illustrations alone. The rhymes don’t flow as smoothly as before but heck, it’s so fun just to look at the book (there’s a lot to see, even in the end papers) that I couldn’t bear to give it less than 5 stars. Keep it up, Mr. Rex…two kids (and a mom) here in California think you ROCK!
