Halloween Bugs: A Trick or Treat Pop Up Book (Bugs in a Box Books) by David A. Carter

Great Book!

Little ghouls and boys will love looking behind each door in pop-up artist David A. Carters Halloween Bugs. Who’s behind the rusty iron door? Who’s behind the enchanted door? Wouldn't you like to know? Aficionados of Carter’s other buggy books (The Twelve Bugs of Christmas, Easter Bugs, etc.) might have some inkling... six- and eight-legged critters will undoubtedly feature heavily. Behind creepy creaky (or whimsical) doors, readers will find bugs to rival the spookiest Halloween goblins and witches. Beware the very hairy Scary Bug! Don't turn your back on the one-eyed, one-horned, Spotted People Eater Bug. And think twice before accepting sweets from the luscious little Lollipop Bug. Carters bug books specialize in the spectacular grand finale--he does not disappoint in Halloween Bugs, either! This clever little novelty pop-up is just the thing for every little trick-or-treater--even those of the two-legged variety. (Ages 2 to 6) --Emilie Coulter

My Personal Review:
This is a favorite Halloween book in our house. We also have "The Twelve Bugs of Christmas", "Bedtime Bugs", and "Valentine Bugs" from this series. All are huge hits among boys and girls of all ages. The text and illustrations even make me chuckle a little. The pop-ups are really quite spectacular, and have held up surprisingly well against all the use.
