Bob Hamer is a 26-year veteran of the FBI. In undercover operations Hamer posed as everything from a drug dealer to an aging pedophile. His last undercover assignment—and his hardest—was infiltrating NAMBLA, the North American Man/Boy Love Association. Now, looking back on a career rich in the kind of action that makes for great cinema, Bob tells us of the challenges he endured and overcame as he stared the dark side of humanity in the face—and never blinked. It is rare for an agent to serve undercover long-term, but he made a career out of a job that can completely consume and destroy a man. Remarkably, through all of this Bob found a way to remain true to his faith, and always put his family before his work. (2008)
Personal Review: The Last Undercover: The True Story of an FBI Agents Dangerous Dance with Evil by Bob Hamer

Of all the various books written on dealing with the issues of child abuse, and child predators, finally we have an author who gets it. Bob Hamer has the background of someone who has been there, seen the heinous animals who wreak havoc on our children, and knows the answers to questions the clinical community either cannot seem to fathom, or they get wrong from the very start.

Mr. Hamer lived in a world where the realities are far more than the vast majority of parents can conceive, and if they could, they wouldn't be able to deal with them. He provides a view of these animals who prey on children without remorse, and he was even able to maintain his credible undercover position, while listening to their various justifications for their actions. This book explains the sociopathy and psychopathy of these perpetrators in a manner that can be understood. He makes the most of explaining that they are no different than anyone that may be encountered on a daily basis. If, after reading this book, a parent doesn't awaken to the reality that their child is in danger, there is no hope.

I should also note that I am a forty-two-year Professional Licensed Private Investigator, involved in a specialty of family law cases. My agency employs a full-time Accredited Criminal Profiler, who provides our clients with invaluable data on dealing with the current state of the Criminal Justice System, as well as profiling a number of pedophiles and child molesters we encounter during these investigations. We see, on a daily basis, just how broken our system of justice really is, and how the so-called mandatory reporters and other statutory protections seem to drop the ball on a regular basis, with no apparent consequences. When it comes to the American Criminal Justice System there really are no protections against the child predators. That system is completely dysfunctional, and the American Civil Justice System is even more broken, when it comes to understanding the psychology behind these perpetrators. Our most heartfelt thanks to Bob Hamer for providing us with an insightful representation of the real world of pedophilia, from an insider's point of view, as well as his very competent perspective on the overall issue of dealing with these animals who prey on our kids.
