Have you ever noticed how being with your best friend makes your day brighter? Mousse and Nut have! They love walking together, playing together, and laughing together.

Everything is wonderful—until they start to notice there are some things they just can't do together. Can Mousse and Nut really be friends when they're so different?

Of course they can!

These endearing, floppy dogs will wag their way into the hearts of children as they teach a gentle lesson about friendship.

My Personal Review:
I saw this book featured in the AKC's Family Dog magazine a few months back and ordered two copies as soon as it hit the shelves. One for each of my cousins' new babies. I had to read it, myself, as soon as it arrived. The illustrations are fabulous, and, as an avid dog lover, the way the book begins and ends with two friends meeting, smiling at each other and "the sun comes out" and everyone's happy, brought me to tears. Such a sweet book for any child, but especially poignant for those of dog lovers.

I'm about to order two more for my own niece and nephew.
